ONE SINGULA

"One Singular Sensation Every little step She takes, One Thrilling Combination Every move that She makes." A Chorus Line s the words of Broadway hit so eloquently express it, Meredith

College is one sensational institution. The dedicated faculty, staff, and students have established and maintained MC's tradition of educational excellence and her constant commitment to the intellectual and spiritual growth

Meredith symbolizes in one fine effort the past and the future of education for women. Everywhere you walk on her campus, there exists some reminder of a long, fruitful past and a bright, hopeful future. Amazingly, Meredith has maintained the ideals of her forefathers while keeping abreast the new educational developments of today.

R SENSATION

Meredith's dedicated and hard-working faculty and staff ddd their own spark of sensationalism. Each member contributes greatly to the growth of Meredith students as individuals and as a community. Their genuine concern for students as individuals assures that students are not lost in the shuffle of grade books, attendance records and tests. It is not unusual to see professors staying after hours to work with a student or to see Vice-Presidents eating with students in the dining hall. Meredith's faculty and staff strive to keep doors open to students and to assure that each student gets the personal attention she needs.

The student herself is a sensational part of Meredith. Each woman, bringing her own spark of individuality, helps to make Meredith shine. Students come to MC from various places and with different backgrounds, talents, and interests. Meredith allows each student to develop to her potential while offering opportunities to work together as a community.

It is exciting to be a part of a school that supports growing and learning opportunities for individuals. Classroom instruction and extracurricular activities allow each student to find her nitch and to grow with those around her.

Meredith is many wonderful things rolled into one. Just like in a good recipe, the individual ingredients are important, but it's their unique combination that makes them outstanding With the thrilling combination of faculty, staff, students, and tradition, we have one sensational school.

EVERY LITTLE STEP SHE TAKES

ith each step at Meredith growth occurred and new goals were achieved. Excitement stirred as the institution strove to prepare its students for the future. There were many advances in technology, architect, and instruction over the last four years that greatly enhanced the education Just last year, the final touches were made on the art building. It had been under construction since September 1986. This facility helped to upgrade the quality of education for our students. As well as providing better equipment, the building has large lecture halls and a gallery for students exhibitions. By moving the art department out of Jones Auditorium, room became available to enlarge the Continuing Education program. This office served the needs of students who returned to MC to gain more learning experience.

Other futuristic steps to enhance the instruction of students came with the purchasing of several computers. Our president, Dr. Weems, emphasized the importance of introducing the student to the computer in order to prepare her for work in the 20th century. The Home Economic, Psychology, Math, and Business departments agreeing with this focus, purchased top quality computer systems. A few departments even opened new courses. Not only did these computer systems further classroom instruction, they also helped the students to prepare quality work. For example, the new CADD system (Computer Aided Drafting and Design) has helped interior design majors in structuring 4-color lavouts.

The Graduate school at Meredith was named this year after Dr. John Weems, who actively participated in the development of the program. There were three preexisting programs, Business, Education, and Music. Together they enrolled 200 students. The growth of the program testified to its necessity and its success.

Other steps taken during this time included upgrading the environment of Meredith. Renovations were made in some residence hall parlors, microwaves were added to each floor, the bottom floor of Poteat Dorm was remodeled, and the Alumnae House was redecorated. There were also ground inprovements made with the replacement of the courtyard bushes. The urge to improve even touched Belk Dining Hall. ARA strived to meet the suggestions of the students by purchasing new salad bars and ice cream machines, and by providing a larger variety of foods.

All this progress could only mean one thing, Meredith as an institution took pride in meeting the growing needs of her students and faculty. With every step she made, the quality of education improved.

ONE THRILLING COMBINATION

... every move that she makes. It's not just the students, the classes, the traditions, the faculty, the sports, or the organizations — but it's all of these things combined that make each year special. Throughout the whole year, all the ingredients make Meredith — One Thrilling Combination!

ach year seems to start off about the same way at Meredith College. Upperclassmen return and freshmen make their debut. It's hot, the parking lots are full, and the elevators are always full when you get there. The faculty rushes around greeting all the parents and students. There are memories of the year before and expectations of the one to come. All of these things are typical of the beginning of a school year. However it is not any one of these things that is more important than the other. You see Meredith isn't just an ordinary college. It's a unique college composed of many people and many things that make Meredith One Thrilling Combination.

There were the girls that made each class special. From the freshmen to the seniors, each class had a special place at Meredith. There's closeness, unity, and friendships that tie the classes together into one body. Then there is the faculty. No matter what their positions, the faculty members were always there to lend a hand and offer a smile. With every move that she made, a student could be sure that she would run into a friend.

Aside from the people, there are other facets that add to Meredith such as the many traditions. Perhaps the most famous is Cornhuskin'. The class wide competition promotes spirit, pride, and unity. The winter dance follows close behind with the Christmas dinner just around the corner. After exams came the long awaited break. Then in January it was back to classes. The spring brought the formals, Stunt, Spring Break, Class Day, and finally Graduation. No matter what the year a MC girl could count on the same wonderful traditions to keep her calendar full with every move that she made.

As well as keeping with the past, Meredith girls also looked to the future. Meredith girls found themselves loaded down in classwork as they studied from general requirements to major requirements. Students lived from one exam period to the other. Each department tried to provide students with the latest available sources to aid them in their fields. Small classrooms and well trained professors offered opportunities to learn, reach out, and go for the impossible. In addition to the academics. Meredith was full of chances for girls to try their wings at leadership by joining any of the many clubs on campus. Whatever your interests were there was a club for you.

Just like any good dish needs a recipe, so does a year at Meredith. It is a combination of things: different types of people, a dash of the past, a pinch of the future, a lot of friendship and unity, and a drop of individuality. All of these things combined and working together make Meredith a place to grow. Every year has it's own creative blend...it's One Thrilling Combination!

August 18, many new young women filled with excitement, anxiety and hope entered the long driveway to Meredith College. Over four hundred girls with arms full of luggage and crates moved into their new rooms for the 1988-89 school year. After spending the afternoon getting settled into their rooms, the girls and their parents gathered in Jones Auditorium for a brief assembly. During this time they were welcomed by President John Weems and Dean of Students - Dorothy Sizemore. After the assembly, the new MC women had to bid their parents farewell. Hugs and kisses were passed and "I love you's" were followed by long, long goodbye waves. To start Orientation off to a great beginning, there was picnicing and dancing in the courtyard with student advisors. The rest of orientation was very busy for the freshmen, their days were filled with meetings, placement tests, tours of the campus and opportunities for making new friends. Saturday

Steppin night t h e girls dressed their best to have dinner at the President's Banquet. This gave the freshmen an opportunity to meet and talk with Dr. Weems personally. On Monday night of orientation the girls met around the island to participate in the Honor Code Ceremony. This was a traditional ceremony in which each new student pledged to uphold the honor code and rules of Meredith.

After registration and buying books the freshmen were ready to begin the year with a fresh start. Despite the moments of frustration and anxiety, the waiting was over. For the freshmen their time had finally come.

Aruba, Jamaica oooh we want to take you to the Luau

Since we could not catch the next plane to Kokomo, MEA brought the islands to us. The annual luau occurred on October 5. in the courtvard. It was a wonderful afternoon filled with fun and entertainment. Students kicked back and let the tropical fever take over.

Upon arriving in the courtyard, everyone was given a lei. It was just like a scene from Fantasy Island! The courtvard was decorated to look like an island paradise. A huge table was stacked full of tropical fruits. The main course consisted of Hawaiian baked chicken and barbequed spareribs. Tropical punch was served with banana nut bread for dessert.

While enjoying the food, there was also live entertainment by performer Carl Rosen. He took the girls to Key West with Jimmy Buffet tunes as well as Billy Joel, James Taylor, and Elton John. Girls danced and sang along with Carl Rosen. It is not every day that students get to enjoy exotic

Rising Above The Ordinary

On the "Good Ship Lollipop" you showed your "True Colors" by imaging "Beyond Your Wildest Dreams" what you could get "When You Wish Upon a Star."

The most exciting time at MC is when "Cornhuskin' rolls around each year. All the commotion began on Sunday followed by a week of water fights and hall raids at annoying hours in the early morning and late night. There were times when the first sound you heard in the morning were the clinging and clanging of pots and pans at the unheard hour of 6 A.M. Then it was the last sound you heard before going to bed at night. The water fights were a time that MC girls let loose and filled garbage cans full of ice cold water to spark the competition between the classes. Besides the water fights and hall raids each class held nightly meetings to practice their songs, tall tales, hog callings, and the parades for the big competition on Thursday. However, before all the commotion in Jones Auditorium on Thursday night there was plenty of excitement in the courtyard. Faculty members and students attended a picnic with special treats like candy apples, cotton candy, roasted peanuts, and hot apple cider. After the picnic, the competition began. There was an apple-bobbin and corn shucking contest before the classes headed to the competition.

As the auditorium filled, freshmen were wondering what was really going to happen, the sophomores felt an overwhelming power to sink the freshmen ship, the juniors had plans to dominate again, and the seniors were rereaching for the stars. While waiting for the competition to begin the classes sang and performed class cheers. After what seemed like an endless waiting period the competition began. The evening opened up with entertainment by the WINGS. The Class of 1992 sparked enthusiasm with the theme "Good Ship Lollipop," and sang songs from our childhood like "A Spoonful of Sugar," "Cee Cee my Playmate," and the Mickey Mouse theme song. The Class of 1991 sported their "True Colors" throughout the competition with songs like "Kokomo" and "Groovy Kind of Love." The Class of 1990 presented an act "Beyond Your Wildest Dreams." They entertained with songs from our afterschool television days like "The Addams Family," and "The Flintstones." The class of 1989 presented Disney on Parade with their theme "When You Wish Upon a Star" to celebrate Mickey Mouses' 60th birthday. Senior's dressed as fairies were a main attraction. To promote their theme we were taken back to our mouseketeer days with songs like "Heigh Ho," "Whistle While You Work,"and "Zip A Dee Doo Dah."

After all the competition MC girls were found celebrating at Shooters and at Fraternity Row. It was definitely a night where MC girls were "Rising Above the Ordinary."

What happens when MC girls and NCSU guys dress up and get down?

It's a Nightmare on Hillsborough Street!

What? Ghosts, clowns, hilbillies, and even witches on the Meredith campus? Certainly not! It was true, on October 26 every creature was found roaming around campus. It was time for the MEA Halloween Mixer.

The theme for the mixer was "Nightmare on Hillsborough Street" which included a surprise visit from the dream master himself, Freddy Krueger. The lights were dimmed in the gym while Mike Long played beach music, top 40, rap, and any other special requests. People danced until 12a.m. A special treat was the arrival of NCSU guys from three of the male dorms. It was a great chance to dance, enjoy refreshments, and socialize with Meredith friends and friends from State.

The mixer was fun and scary as everyone tried to guess who was hidden behind that mask. There was every kind of costume you could imagine. MEA t-shirts with the mixer's theme were also available to purchase.

The night was a treat for everyone who attended the mixer, and, if you did not know what was going on in the gym on that cold October night, it was a Nightmare On Hillsborough Street!

Beyond the Iron Gates!

". . . Like animals locked in the zoo give me freedom day and night No one to tell me what to do* Off in the distance fire burn bright we make decisions* Wild life Wild life When ITs bad it ain't bad enough . . . " (INXS Wild Life, Kick)

Everyone knows that at Meredith you have to go off campus to taste the wild life. In Raleigh you can find something to satisfy your tastes, no matter how outlandish they may be.

The weekend begins around 11pm on Thursday night on the Meredith campus except for the true partiers who begin at the ACC Tavern on Wednesday night. Clubs are abundant in Raleigh. For shaggin' there's the Embers Beach Club, for Top 40 there's Cheers, for progressive there's the Brewery. Then there are other places like ACC Tavern, Shooters, and the Fallout Shelter to provide the best in whatever musical preference you enjoy.

However, if clubs and bars are not your speed then there are plenty of other things to do. Malls are abundant, as are movie theaters. Whether it's shopping or relaxing in front of a good movie, you'll have plenty of selection. After cafeteria food all week, eating out can be a treat! From Char-Grill to the Angus Barn, you can find a restaurant to fit your appetite as well as your pocketbook.

Then there are the girls who prefer hangin' out at "The Row" with the fraternity guys. Just ride down frat row on the weekend and you will surely see some MC girls socializing. From being a lil' sister to a girlfriend or just enjoying a band — there are always reasons to "do the Frats."

So whatever your tastes, Raleigh has something to offer. Relax, step out, and go beyond the iron gates for some fun with friends. Besides being home to the Meredith Angels, Raleigh is a place for anyone and everybody. Get a taste of the Wild Life cause when it is bad, it ain't bad enough!

The "Meredith Performs' production of "A Little Night Music' ended with a bow from the cast

As a freshmen at MC you were invited to participate and attend the ''Meredith Performs" shows. What is Meredith Performs was a question asked more than once. But. after a few days you learned that "Meredith Performs" includes students, staff, faculty, and friends of the college performing music, dance, and the arts for audiences from the campus, Raleigh, and the surrounding communities. To beome a part of "Meredith Per-'orms," you just audition to perform or volunteer to help packstage.

You, yes you, can enjoy and get involved in the arts on campus through "Meredith Performs." Every year, an exciting season of music, dance, and theatre is created by students, staff, faculty, and friends of the college. According to Dr. Nan Stephenson "to become part of the "Meredith Performs" family, you do not have to have experience, you just have to want to make friends, to learn, and to have fun." This year "Meredith Performs" performed "A Little Night Music" which had that classic song "Send in the Clowns" conducted by James Powers. It proved to be one of the most stylish shows in years with its sophisticated comedy. Also, you saw Sue Bernhard, Alyson Cromwell and Aldo Melito, and Robert Small dance their way into our hearts with a strong performance filled with exciting energy. The Annual Christmas Concert was held on December 4 in Jones Auditorium and it ignited the spirit of the season around campus. "The Chamber Maid" which was a charming ballad opera was presented in February. It was a funny story that reflected upon the 18th century with the elaborate costumes and lyrics of that time. The last "Meredith Performs" presentation was Jennifer Horton "The Adventures of Pinnochio" in April. This Meredith original featured faculty and student artists who created a colorful and provocative theatre piece for all ages. Everyone who participated contributed to the creativity of the performances and enjoyed hearing the applause that came from having a part in the energy of the production. This dedication was what made Meredith Performs successful.

Perfect Dresses, Handsome Faces... Midnight on the Oasis

"Who are you taking to the semi-formal?" What are you wearing? Where are you eating? So much to decide! The dance is only two weeks away!"

These questions always came up in conversation as the semi-formal drew closer. The winter semi-formal was Saturday, November 19th at the Howard Johnson's Motel. Formula 7 entertained by playing mostly top forty hits. The dance was for all classes.

Before the dance began, most couples went out to dinner. Some dined at Mountain Jacks, Crossroads, Angus Barn, or Darryl's. Getting dressed up for dinner was a much different pace than eating in the Meredith dining hall. Girls then dressed in their semi-formals at the hotel while socializing with other

The band started playing at 9 p.m. The ballroom was decorated to fit the theme "Midnight on the Oasis." Refreshments were available. Photographers were busy running around snapping candid pictures of girls giggling and couples kissing. The band played until 1 a.m. while couples danced the night away.

Finally the long awaited night came to an end. Some went to other parties with friends and some just crashed. It was a night to remember, it was fun and magical, it was Midnight on the Oasis.

sisters except when you got tired of each other, you could go to your own rooms You did not share the same parents and many of you did not even come from the same hometown. However, all of a sudden when you came to MC you automatically shared things with girls that made you feel like sisters.

Friendships just like sister hood create special bonds that last forever. Living in the dorms provides a closeness between all the girls. It is almost like one big family - the Vann's, the Brewer's, or the Barehoot's. Liv ing together taught girls the values of respect and closeness. From moving-in day in August until moving-out day in May, unforgettable memories were made in every dorm room. All the halls were required to have hall meetings, socials, ser vice projects, and educational projects These mandatory gatherings were informative as well as essential in getting to know everyone on the hall. There were also those awful 2 am fire drills, broken elevators, and other dislikes that you just had to put up with What kind of triends would bust in your room with a problem, borrow your tavorite sweater, let you cry on her shoulder, and just be there to share a laugh? Twas the Night Before Christmas, And All Through the Campus . . .

The Christmas spirit was first brought to the campus when Santa Claus came for a visit. Whether you had been good or bad, Santa Claus let you sit on his lap and tell him what you wanted for Christmas. The cafeteria staff prepared a wonderful meal for everyone. During the meal, Jennifer Steifel sang carols and Dr. John Creagh told a favorite Christmas Story.

After the dinner everyone was invited to spread the cheer with MRA's annual Christmas caroling and MCA's Christmas service.

With presents to wrap and carols to sing, all of the Meredith community was in great holiday cheer. The days were busy, but it was always a little easier knowing that Santa Claus was on his way.

There is no better way to learn about a hall or a dorm than by looking at the T-shirts the residents wear. Each hall and every dorm proudly designed Tshirts, sweatshirts, or boxers to make a statement about individuality and uniqueness among those girls living there.

Living in the dorms seemed to be a sure way to make new friends. Attending meetings and socials together provided ample time to get to know everyone on the hall. Then there were those all night study sessions in the hall when everyone sat sleepy-eyed and fussed about the next test. Of course a lot of learning went on at these sessions, but not academically! You could catch up on who liked whom, where the parties were, and what the latest trends were around colleges. All of these things were very vital to college life and of course everyone shared the same interests when it came to men and parties, so hall gossip was abundant.

Other things such as secret sisters were fun ways to get to know other girls on the hall while doing something nice at the same time. If you saw streamers and signs you could be sure that there was a birthday. Door decorations were always added highlights on a hall.

However, there were those things that people hated about the dorms such as fire drills, broken elevators, empty vending machines, and lines at the washing machines. These were little things that sometimes made dorm life seem unbearable. But everyone was able to take the good with the bad and live together peacefully.

There were fun times and there were not-so-fun times. Each hall was unique and wonderful in its own way. All the halls came together to form the dorms that each girl was proud to belong to. Memories were made in those rooms and friendships were created. It all started . . . Just Between Halls.

Extra Extra Read All About MC ELECTIONS!

Extra, Extra, read all about the Meredith College elections! Every spring around the MC campus comes the time to elect officers to help continue the Meredith democratic student body. This was a time when any student who felt qualified for a position at Meredith College could speak up. After a week of campaigning with posters and flyers, the candidates gave a final speech to the student body before the elections. The MC women that were elected by the students talked before the elections. The MC women that were elected by the student body to represent the Meredith community were as follows: SGA President, Yvette Brown, MCA President, Christy Sizemore, MCA Vice-President Laura Edmonds, MEA President, Bonnie Allen, MEA Vice-President, Donna Newton, MRA President, Susan Ezell, MRA Vice-President, Cheryl Mason, Chair of Honor Council, Libby Avery, Chair of Elections Board, Robin Wright, Chair of Residence Hall Board, Mandy Williams, Chair of Student Life, Jenny Snow. Resident Hall Presidents were: Faircloth Michele Roberts; Brewer, Amy Allen; and Heilman, Pam Crocker. The Meredith Community takes pride in the democratic system that was established years ago. By holding elections each year it allows the MC women to continue the tradition. Carrie Curlee

STUDENT LEADERS

LEADING WITH CLASS

Meredith College is based on Self-Government. Any activities that occur on the campus are put ogether by the students. The college has been divided into many different organizations to nelp self govern the Meredith community. The student leaders consisted of anyone who held a eadership position at Meredith. This includes the Student Government Association, the Meredith Entertainment Associaion, the Meredith Recreation Association, and the Meredith Christian Association, the Oak Leaves' editor, the Student Life Committee, The Acorn, Association for Black Awareness, and he Meredith International Association. All of these orzanizations form the student eaders' committee.

On September 16th and 17th he students attended a conference in Lynchburg, VA at the Eagle Evrie Conference, The theme of the weekend was "A Winning Season." The key note speaker was Dr. Murphy Osborne, Vice President of Institutional Advancement at Meredith. He spoke about designing a winning game plan. The students also attended sessions including Wellness Community Skills, Ethics in Leadership, Stress and Time Management. The conference helped the student leaders understand how important their positions were and how they could improve.

The student leaders of Meredith are hardworking women. These girls put in many long hours to help our community be its best in every aspect. All of the organizations serve different purposes but have the same goal to keep the Meredith traditions alive.

'racy Sternberg gives the impression that she really nderstands what the speaker is trying to relay to er in his discussion.

M C GIRLS DARE TO WORK?

The answer is yes. Girls are often lucky enough to get a job working on campus in such places as the library, the supply store, the Dean of Student's office, a professor's office, or a variety of other places. Working on campus is a convenient opportunity because it allows students to schedule their work hours around classes and busy schedules. Being a student worker provides other advantages. Edy Speight, a senior, feels that it is important, because it allows her to make career connections for the future and to meet new students. Whether filing, typing, grading papers, running errands, serving food, or running a cash register, MC girls can be seen working about ten hours a week at their appropriate jobs. With all these jobs to be finished the girls can feel a challenge in successfully completing their work. A sophomore, Tammy Tolbert, feels that her job is rewarding, challenging, and fulfilling in making her college years more complete. She also added that by working in the Office of Student Development she has realized how much hard work it takes to keep Meredith running smoothly.

There is no telling what the MC workers will be doing, but you can bet that they are working diligently and anxiously awaiting that wonderful paycheck.

walking in faith

Meredith College set aside January 23-26 as Religious Emphasis Week. Donna Fowler, chairperson for REW, developed the topic for the week: "Walking in Faith." There were two guests who came to help during this special occasion. One was Dr. Molly Marshall-Green who conducted the sermons at the worship services held on Monday and Wednesday. Dr. Marshall-Green also attended several Religion classes, where she spoke on the understanding of salvation and on women in Christianity. The other special guest was Darrell Adams, a contemporary Christian musician. He supplemented REW through his concert performance on Tuesday night and at Wednesday chapel. According to Sue Holec, MCA President, during REW week "We were catapulted into a region that is thought to be well known by many and is actually only known to few. Our quest was in seeking God, then allowing ourselves to be sought by God." With the aide of these two important people and the hard work of Donna Fowler and other MCA members Religious Emphasis Week was a fun, eventful, and informative week for the MC students.

Every year Meredith College celebrates Founder's Day. This year on Monday, January 30, students and faculty members gathered in Jones Auditorium to celebrate Meredith's 98th year. This year's address was given by Dr. Sarah McCulloh.

"Wild Deer Roaming," the title of her address, stressed the higher educational opportunities available for women. She mentioned that just a few years back, people believed that college was too stressful for women.

Dr. Jean Jackson, Asst. Professor of English and Director of the Centennial Commission, announced a theme contest and the winner of the contest to receive $100.00 and a package of Centennial Commemorative items.

Founder's Day, another Meredith tradition, will always be a special day in the Meredith community because it celebrates the beginning of our great institution for young women.

The Living DREAM

During the week of February 13-16 students throughout Meredith campus celebrated Black Emphasis Week, There were several events scheduled to keep the ambience alive. On Monday, Dr. Gloria Randle emphasized the institution of higher education and the need to ban together to help complete Dr. Martin Luther King's dream. Wednesday, Minority Visitation Day, provided the opportunity for young and old within a seventy-five mile radius to visit Meredith's campus. Reverend Gleaves from North Raleigh Methodist Church spoke at Wednesday chapel. The topic of his discussion centered on abolishment of all prejudice. The special music for the service was provided by the St. Augustine Choir. Thursday night was "A Night of Culture" when Kenneth Howard, a black representative from NCSU, Alpha Phi Alpha brothers from NCSU, and ABA members came to MC to entertain. Kenneth Howard did a musical script "I Remember Grandma," along with the Alpha Phi Alpha brothers who were stepping, a combination of tap and chanting that expresses love for brotherhood and mankind. Finally, ABA members sang songs, recited poetry, and played instruments to wind up the night of black culture and to keep the Living Dream alive.

MRA Double Dares You!

If you have ever wanted to let loose and to have fun then Stunt '89 was for you. March 15 in Jones Auditorium was a wild and woolv time. The MC's Dr. Goode and Mrs. Tippett kept the action under control. Before the class competition began, the Resident Directors performed an opening skit and then judged the commercials presented by the classes. It was the Juniors, as the Lucky Charms, who won this presentation. The rest of the class commercials were the Freshmen as the New Bohemians, the Sophomores as the Blue Kangaroos, and the Seniors as the Club Mics. Each class was judged on participation. The Freshmen won the fifty dollars from MRA to go toward their class treasury.

It was now time for the competition to begin. Questions were asked to each of the classes. The penalty for not knowing an answer, was the challenge of performing a stunt. Several of the stunts were Hershey's syrup being poured onto another person's head, girls trying to find a grape in a bowl of applesauce with no hands, and girls retrieving gummy worms with their feet out of bowls of jell-o. The competition was overseen by the Stunt co-chairs Cheryl Mason and Kitty Pate, the masterminds behind the stunts. After several rounds of questions the Seniors won. They then had to run through an obstacle course within a certain time limit. Since they successfully completed this final task the Seniors won the overall competition.

The prizes were gift certificates to Char-Grill, Steve's Ice Cream, and Mission Valley Cinemas. Cheryl Mason, one of the co-chairs, said after the competition, "I feel like Stunt was a success, and that it is a tradition at Meredith that we will never lose but will keep adding new twists."

Girls, Gir

Girls, girls, girls, ages 4-12 came from all over to spend an exciting weekend at Meredith. March 18 and 19 MRA sponsored a special weekend for the Meredith students to invite their little friends, sisters, or cousins to come and spend the night with them.

The fun began Saturday morning when the girls arrived on campus. They had lunch with their Meredith friend and then spent the afternoon making arts and crafts, decorating cakes and competing in Olympics. Their action-packed day closed with a movie. Sunday the girls attended chapel, participated in a fashion show and went on a scavenger hunt.

After a weekend of fun and excitement the girls said their goodbyes. Lil' Friends' Weekend is a special time for all the young women involved. It provides the perfect opportunity for girls of all ages to participate in a fun-filled weekend while growing closer to one another.

The Excitement Is Gonna Get Ya!

Meredith Angels made Raleigh shine! Whether it was at work, at study, or at play, MC girls could always be found about Raleigh. Some could be found earning extra money working at T.K. Tripps, The Oyster Bar, and other bars and restaurants. Since studying was a part of school many girls felt right at home at the NCSU Library especially with the added attractions. Lots of studying went on here - of what we're not cure!

After all the work was finished there was always time for the MC girls to have some fun. On Autumn weekends many "Angels" were seen at the football games cheering on their favorite team whether it was the Blue Devils, the Tarbeels, or the Wolfpack. Their support carried on through to the basketball season where they were once again seen shaking those multicolored pom poms to show their spirit. An additional attraction to life off campus was the concerts at the Dean Dome. This year there were sold out concerts such as INXS. Amy Grant. Def Leppard, and Bon Jovi.

Sometimes it is necessary to take quick road trips to see friends. Cars left Raleigh headed to UNC-W, UNC, ECU, Duke, and all the other colleges where long lost friends and missed boyfriends could be found. Whether you left the Raleigh city limits or not, there was always somewhere to go and someone to see. No matter where you went in Raleigh, you were most likely to see Meredith girls around, enjoying the city and having fun with friends. If you have not traveled out of the Meredith gates yet, watch out because the excitement is going to get you!

An Elegant Affair

A special night of elegance began as Seniors prepared for their last Meredith dance and Juniors dressed for their first formal. For most couples, the Junior/Senior Formal began with a nice dinner at one of Raleigh's elegant restaurants. Other couples chose to have appetizers at a friend's place. As the night hours passed, girls and their dates began to fill the dance hall at the Howard Johnson's Convention Center.

The Fantastic Shakers provided the dance tunes from beach music to Top Forty. The band's enthusiasm and good variety of music kept the energy flowing and the couples dancing. During the band's breaks, couples socialized with friends, posed for pictures, and talked with the invited administration and fac-

Words On Spring Fling What MC girls tell us!

MC girls looked forward to the annual MEA sponsored Spring Fling that was held on the island. April 9 marked the date for this year's Spring Fling. The invited entertainers were AAE and North Tower, AAE took us by storm with their Reggae music and North Tower entertained with Top Forty and Motown classics. Booths were set up to provide other things to do while listening to the bands. One booth was sponsored by MEA members who offered a tye-dying stand to anybody who wanted to brighten up a boring shirt. Also, to conquer those afternoon munchies there was a Pizza Hut stand that sold pizza by the slice. While the music played, MC girls and their dates were seen playing frisbee, dancing, and lying in the sun. It was a gorgeous day to relax and enjoy the atmosphere and to socialize with friends. Every year MC girls look forward to Spring Fling because it offers a break from their rigorous schedules. It was a wonderful way to top off a fun-filled weekend.

EXCELLENCE AWARDED

Every year the students who academically excelled and devotedly led at Meredith are recognized for their extra efforts. This year the academic awards were on April 10 and the leadership awards were on April 17; each were in Jones Auditorium. Faculty and administration at Meredith were on hand to see the outstanding students at Meredith receive their well deserved awards.

Academic awards were presented to MC girls from all the departments an campus including English, Religion, and Business to name a few. The leadership awards were given out to members of organizations, to class officers, and to outstanding class members. The awards' ceremonies were a tribute to those students who studied and worked hard to make their years at Meredith more fulfilling.

Today And Tomorrow

The Senior Picnic was a time for the graduating big sisters and their little sisters to get together for fun in the sun. Good times and memories were shared through last will and testaments. Iris Wilkins, Senior Class President, read the last will and testaments. However, the fun came when the ten year prophecies were revealed for the graduates. According to friends, many MC graduates will be married with children and holding such positions as a PTA secretary. However, there will be those ever adventurous graduates who will still be wandering across the world. Who knows where everybody will be, only time will tell. Overall the Senior picnic was a success and a memorable occasion for all.

A Special Message

The beginning of the end started with the Baccalaureate Service on Wednesday, April 26 at 10 a.m. in Jones Chapel. Each year the official graduation activities begin with this special worship service honoring the graduating Seniors.

Meredith was very pleased to have Dr. John H. Hewett, Pastor of the First Baptist Church in Asheville, N.C., as their guest speaker. Dr. Hewett's sermon entitled "A Journey Toward Blessing" filled each individual with laughter, inspration, and pride. As Dr. Hewett addressed the graduates he used the phrase, "Just look at you. Aren't you something," to describe the graduating class.

The Merdith Chorale, under the direction of James Powers, provided inspirational music for the service. As they sang the benediction and the tears slowly streamed down graduates' cheeks, we were reminded of God's perfect love which bonds the hearts of true friends.

A Day Of Daisies

As tradition would have it, the afternoon of May 13, 1989 marked the date for Meredith's Class Day. This day of tradition honoring the graduating class began with the daisy chain procession by the Little Sister class, the sophomores. As the class of 1989 filed in past their Little Sisters and the daisy chain, the excitement mounted. After being welcomed by Iris Wilkins, Senior Class President, the class histories were read. Mary Ann Lisenba, Jennifer Horton, and Lynn Hastings presented all the facts that made the Class of 1989 so unique and special. As the memories were recalled, the laughter rose and the tears began to form. Each historian reminded us of the special times and bonds that made the years at Meredith so wonderful.

The next part of the program was devoted to the sister classes. During the Wishbone Ceremony, wishbones were presented to the Little Sisters as a token of good luck in competition with the evenyear classes. There were also Big Sister-Little Sister songs. Several laughs erupted at this point because the class of 1989 never has been known for their musical ability.

Next, the Senior Ensemble performed two songs, one written by a member of the graduating class and the other, "Pray For Me," by Michael W. Smith. Afterwards, the presentations of the Class Doll, the Cap and Gown, and the Class Gift were made. Kimberly, the Class Doll, proudly modeled the latest fashion that had been chosen by the Class of 1989. Kimberly's blue-jean jumper, white mock turtleneck and dirty bucks were all made by Shandra Lanier and Lori Harris. The presentation of the class gift was especially exciting because it was the largest gift ever presented by a graduating class. As the Seniors cheered, President Weems came forward to receive his check of $4,500. Most of the money was raised through room deposit pledges.

Following tradition, Class Day closed with the formation of the Class Numerals. Eves welled with tears and the emotion rose as the Sophomores slowly processed onto the island and formed the '89 class numerals. After the numbers were meticulously placed, the Class of 1989 moved forward and encircled the island.

Standing there holding hands with one another, the Seniors made memories to cherish for a lifetime. After Iris Wilkins gave the signal, each woman rushed forward to pick a daisy for her book of Meredith memoirs.

This day, which is set aside each year by Meredith to honor the graduating class, eloquently reminded each one of us just how special it is to be a part of the Meredith Community. She truly is One Singular Sensation!

The Long Awaited Moment

As the chapel bells chimed the tenth hour, the faculty and administration filed into their places on the island. This marked the beginning of the ceremony we had been waiting for - graduation. The faculty was led into the amphitheater by Dr. Rosemary Hornak who held the college mace, a ceremonial regalia given to Meredith this year in loving memory of Eleanor Layfield Davis by her husband, Egbert L. Davis. After the faculty and platform guests had taken their places, the Seniors began their march into the amphitheater.

A formal welcome to the Seniors and guests was given by President John Weems. During his welcome speech, Dr. Weems recognized the mothers of the graduates whose presence made this day extraspecial. Following the welcome, Dr. Gayle Felton of the religion department presented the Scripture and prayer. She chose to read from the second chapter of Philippians. As the words rang-out, it was obvious that she was presenting a challenge to each person to continue her journey towards her selected goals. The next part of the ceremony was dedicated to recognizing the outstanding teachers and distinguished Meredith Alumnae. The faculty honored were Dr. Jean Jackson, Dr. Allen Page, Dr. Carolyn Grubbs, John Kincheloe, and Dr. Greenberg.

The invited ceremonial speaker was Mrs. Judy Woodruff, Chief Washington Correspondent. During her Baccalaureate Address, Mrs. Woodruff informed her listeners of the needs of others in the world and challenged each individual to strive to meet those needs existing within his/her environment. It was evident that Mrs. Woodruff was addressing everyone at the ceremony including the variety of graduates. She encouraged each member of the Class of '89 to strive for her goals whatever they may be - whether it was to be a good mother or to be a CEO of a large corporation.

After Mrs. Woodruff's speech, the long awaited moment finally arrived — the presentation of Diplomas and Bibles. Families and friends cheered as their favorite graduate crossed the island and received her diploma. As one proud father expressed, "I have awaited this moment in my daughter's life for years. I am so proud of her achievements."

The afternoon's ceremonies drew to a close with the farewell speeches of Alice Tropman, Graduate Class Representative, and Iris Wilkins, Senior Class President. Iris reminded the graduates of the loving friendships made at Meredith, and the lifetime role that Meredith plays in the hearts of all who attend college here.

With tassels and rings turned, and diplomas in hand, the Class of 1989 stood before the crowds and proudly sang their Alma Mater. And slowly, very slowly, what seemed to be years away in August had finally become reality — the Class of 1989 were now Alumnae.

ADDEDON'S SENSATIONS

ADDED SENSATIONS is a mini-magazine supplement to the '88-'89 Oak Leaves, It is an attempt to recapture the events that made the news and touched us all in some way. Credits to Time and Newsweek for their pictures and information. ADDED SENSATIONS was composed by Carol Sessoms and Teresa Sawyers.

Republican Vice-Presidential candidate. Dan Quayle, spoke at NCSU as college students from all of Raleigh's colleges attended as the election day drew nearer.

ovember 8, 1988 — the American voters elected George Herbert Walker Bush as the 41st President of the United States. Bush served as Vice-President of the Reagan Administration from 1980-1988. Much to surprise, Bush won the election with a clear mandate. He did not have solutions to any of the nation's pressing problems. Perhaps the victory was attributed to the way the Democratic party handled the election, Michael Dukakis, the Democratic nominee, was characterized as liberal, ethnic, and cold. He was a very bright man, but he had trouble coming across that way. The voters did not warm up to him as they did the grandfatherly Bush.

The Vice-Presidential candidates were just as vague. Bush received much abuse by selecting Dan Quayle as his running mate. Critics claimed that Quayle was a bad choice, but Bush recovered with his grand acceptance speech. Dukakis chose the more experience and known running mate, Lloyd Bentson, Unfortunately the Democrats just did not have the right combination

What characterized the election? Prison furloughs, the Pledge of Allegiance, the Boston Harbor, and Quayle's IQ. The serious issues facing the U.S. were avoided. Both candidates escaped without offering problem solving methods to the deficit, homelessness, and the environment. There was little separating the party platforms besides the candidates.

There were some promises made by Bush according to Time magazine. They were: no new taxes, 30 million more new jobs in the next three years, and an expansion of the national park system. Only time will tell. Time magazine thinks that George Bush's greatest mission will be "taking command of the Reagan Revolution; and adjusting its cause a little bit, and guiding it safely into the 1990's.

THE OLD AND THE NEW. President Ronald Reagan said goodbye to the presidency after eight years. President-Elect George Bush was right hand man to Reagan during the eight year reign (above). However in January 1989, a new administration took over control of the White House, the Bush-Ouavle team (left), After suffering abuse, Bush made a grand acceptance speech at the Republican convention to prove that he did know what he was doing by choosing Quayle. Within a matter of minutes the White House power switched from one regime to another as Americans wondered what the next four years would bring.

What about the top seat in North Carolina? "Keep N.C. in good hands" was the Republican slogan for the 1988 N.C. Governor's Race. Republican incumbent Jim Martin campaigned against Lieutenant Governor Democrat Bob Jordan.

With four years of experience under his belt, Martin campaigned that under him N.C. had prospered especially in areas of economic growth and environmental protection. Opposing Democrat lordan campaigned for higher education standards in N.C. The race was tight at times, but once again the State went Republican.

The long, emotional battle over abortion approached a climax as the Supreme Court prepared for an historic challenge to Roe versus Wade, Explosive terms like abortion and murder, morality and privacy. the right to life and the right to choose were used when the abortion issue was raised once again. Pro-life and pro-choice groups were having demonstrations throughout the entire U.S. Raleigh held its own demonstration in April when college students and business people from the area displayed their views on the issues of life and death. Concerned Pro-lifers and Prochoice groups anxiously waited as the case went back to the courtroom for another round that would decide whether or not to turn the clock back.

The largest oil spill in U.S. history happened this year in Alaska. Exxon, owner of the wounded tanker, had cleanup efforts started quickly in efforts to return the scenic area to its original beauty. Birds, fish, and other marine animals were not killed quickly by the crude, but will still be in danger as the bottom oil contaminates first the micro-organisms, then the small fish that eat them, then the larger creatures. Both the state of Alaska and the Federal Government opened criminal investigation of the spill.

On Life and Death

After the defeat of the Challenger, NASA was cautious about the take-off of the Discovery. As the Discovery cleared the tower. Americans waited with clenched fists, gritting teeth, and tearyeyes, but the Discovery was a victory and Americans did return to space. While aboard the spacecraft the astronauts worked on scientific experiments, played tapes of classical and pop music, and took pictures. The victory of the Discovery was just the beginning of America's return to space. The U.S. has definitely gone from failure with the Challenger to victory with the Discovery.

Victory and defeat were both part of the Olympics in 1988 at Seoul, Korea; however, the U.S. showed a great deal of talent throughout all of the events. The U.S. athletes in the swimming and diving competition like Greg Louganis, Janet Evans, and Matt Biondi represented us well with world records being set. While outside of the water and on the track victories were achieved by U.S. athletes lackie lovner-Keiser, Ben Johnson, and Florence Griffith Joyner, Besides victories the U.S. saw defeat when Edwin Moses lost the 400 meter hurdles and when Carl Lewis lost to Ben Johnson. According to Mary Dector Stanley. who lost, it is not the metal that motivates the athlete, but liking what you do which is the real point of the Olympics.

Salman Rushdie's novel. The Satanic Verses, was praised by critics and won a literary prize in 1989. Unfortunately though, countries like Iran and India found some of the passages offensive causing threats, protests, and demonstrations to break out among angered Muslims. The book was banished and burned in these countries for insulting Islam, the Prophet Muhammed and the holy Koran. Rushdie believed that his book was not about Islam, and he added that it was a defeat when he saw his book burned, largely unread, by the people who might have found some pleasure and much recognition in its pages.

Who made you laugh hysterically whenever she did things like inflating a loaf of bread to a 13-foot monster that leaped from the oven to attack her, or who would try to scoop John Wayne's footprints from the pavement in Hollywood for a souvenir? No one but Lucille Ball could take such everyday things and exaggerate them to a point of happy hysteria. Lucy, who was an American phenomenon, died following open-heart surgery which occurred after a heart attack. Unaccountable millions sat through and continue to sit through Lucy shows such as "I Love Lucy," "The Lucy Show," and "Here's Lucy", which were taped from 1951-1974. In her lifetime, Lucy made seventy-five movies besides her television shows. She proclaimed her success to the basic childishness that hopefully most of us will never lose. Lucille Ball, the glamour girl who became a clown, helped entertainment to live on.

Dr. Allen Page, Head of the Reigion Department was a close friend o Mrs. Weems. He described her as a raceful and energetic person. She vas also a very warm person who alvays had her home open to the Merelith community. Mrs. Weems was alvays her same self, tactful, but direct. he was an avid golfer.

In addition to all her other attri-

A touch of Arush

The Art Department offers a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in art to which can be added concentrations in studio art or an art education certificate. Students are expected to begin their art program during their freshman year.

All art majors must complete twenty-four hours of the core curriculum. If a student wants to pursue art as a profession she needs to take extra hours to develop personal style. Using the Social Studies program a student may add more experience to her program.

Students are able to participate in activities that can broaden their horizons such as attending the Andy Warhol lecture or studying for a semester in Paris, France.

Biological Science

The Department of Biology and Health Sciences meets the needs of the liberal arts student with several introductory courses providing a contemporary molecular basis which relates the field to the physical sciences, home economics and other disciplines. Advanced courses provide opportunities for in-depth exposure to many areas of the biological sciences.

The organization in the department, the Barber Science Club, holds an annual plant sale each spring. This gives students the opportunity to learn more about the horticulture field as well as earn money for the organization. The department also offers two different programs at Duke University and Bowman Gray Medical Center. The program at Duke concentrates on Medical Technology. The program at Bowman Gray concentrates on other educational opportunities in medicine.

The Chemistry of Life

The Chemistry and Physical Science Department provides a curriculum that helps students to pursue careers in science and to understand the complex technological society in which we live. Recent graduates are working for major scientific firms in the Research Triangle Park. In addition, new courses such as Chemistry and Society taught by Dr. Karen Hassett help to provide scientific literacy for non-science majors. Dr. Reginald Shiftlett has been involved with an interdisciplinary capstone course. Human Horizons, which is team taught with faculty members from other departments.

The department hosted the distinguished lecture of the North Carolina Section of the American Chemical Society and cohosted with the Biology Department the annual meeting of the North Carolina Academy of Science.

Teaching Tactics

Erika Roddy The 1988-89 Teaching Fellows

The growing interest in education can be clearly seen by the enrollment in the education department, which has doubled over the last four years. The department has hosted several speakers throughout the year to speak on various aspects of Education. For the first time, the department began participation in the North Carolina Teaching Fellows program. This program was designed for scholarship students who would follow an enriched course schedule including honors classes and attend special meetings and seminars throughout the year. The club, SNCAE, or Student North Carolina Association of Educators, held monthly meetings where speakers would come and advise students on teaching students. The Education department enabled the student, who is seeking a career in teaching, to become certified to teach grades K-4, 4-6, 6-9, or 9-12. The department also certified those students who had chosen a speciality major.

A semester of student teaching is a part of being certified in Education.

Perfect Performance

The department of Speech and Theatre sponsored a series of performances from September through April. New York choreographer, Robert Small, entertained in a small production. February's performance was The Chambermaid, a ballad opera which represented the type of musical theatre that flourished in eighteenth century America. The Dance Theatre, presented by The Meredith Dance Company, included dancers whose premiere works were choreographed by various nationally recognized artists. The final performance of the year, The Adventures of Pinocchio, featured student artists as well as some faculty. The variety of faculty in the department enabled student to focus on special Theatrical/Speech techniques.

As this student waits outside the Writing Center, she reads through one of her English papers.

The English program offered programs for a major in the Education of English, a major in English with a concentration in communication, and just a plain major in English itself. The Meredith English department demanded a tough curriculum out of the student, but in turn provided the student with a well-rounded excellent education. Many of the English classes required papers typed only by the use of the word processor. This enabled the student to enhance their computer skills while fulfilling a departmental requirement. The Writing Center, located in Jones, was available for those who needed help with the punctuation as well as the writing style of their papers.

The Colton English Club sponsored special activities and speakers throughout the academic year. This provided an educational outlet for English majors and also those who were interested. A major in English was very beneficial because one could learn to analyze writing and develop new ideas. With a major in English, one could also relate developed skills to many different jobs and areas of life.

EXPANDING HORIZONS

Kicking off a new year with a different and exciting opportunity added spice to the Foreign Language Department curriculum. This new program, previously offered only in the summer, sent seven students to a university in Angers, France. The experience of being able to live and attend a university in France enabled these students to get a real taste of the culture, as well as, to broaden their horizons Chairperson of the department, Dr. Burgunde Winz commented, "We have had excellent reports from both our students and the school." Encouraged by this positive response, the department worked on making an agreement so that graduate students could also participate.

Creating a similar program for students focusing in Spanish, the faculty planned a semester study in Spain for the summer.

Dr. Julia Mack, the new Spanish hall coordinator and part-time faculty member, taught Spanish and beginning French classes. Along with new programs and new faculty, the department continued its usual activities such as four plays presented by students and faculty. Le Cercle Français also sponsored its annual food and cultural booth at the International Festival in Raleiah.

Plans for the future include internship opportunities in France and at the North Carolina Archives through a chemical firm that has a subsidiary in the Triangle.

The Making of a Nation

The History and Politics Department offered three new courses this year. The Presidency, The New East, and Politics of the 1960's were added to the curriculum. Professor Newby of NCSU was the visiting professor who taught The Near East course. The department, along with MCA, sponsored "Kristallnacht" for the North Carolina Council on the Holocaust. They also sponsored the "Legal Career Panel" with Page Potter and other lawyers. A new program was offered this year: American Civilization Job Tracks in "Public History" and in "Pre-library Science."

Students were able to participate in many internships. Several worked in London for a semester, one student was in Germany, and another was in Wash ington, D.C. working with the Arab Defa mation League. The N.C. Supreme Cour and the Republican Party of N.C. also offered internships.

The department co-sponsored with the Political Science Department of NCSU the Political Science Department of NCSU the Fulloright Fellow from the People's Republic of China for 1989. It also co sponsored with the Education Departmen the Teaching Fellows for the summer of 1990. They will tour historic sites on the East Coast of the U.S.

The History and Politics Department habeen very active in many respects this year. It has helped students to become more aware of the world around them.

In the Home Economics Department four new majors were offered for the first time. They were Child Development, Clothing and Fashion Merchandising, Interior Design, and Foods and Nutrition with either a concentration in Food Service Management or Nutrition.

The Student Section of the Carolina's Chapter of the Institute of Business Designers (IBD) sponsored a trip to Washington, D.C. for the Interior Design majors during the fall semester. They visited various historic sites including the Design Center, the National Cathedral, and the Capitol. IBD also sponsored a trip to Ramesses Exhibit in Charlotte.

The Child Development majors participated in the "Week of the Young Child" by attending the "Teddy Bear March" in April 1989.

The Home Economics Department has expanded this year. It has been involved in many different and exciting activities. Many new opportunities have arisen to improve the department recently.

Summing It Up

Facing a blank screen, this student accepts the challenge of figuring out what a computer is all about

> The objectives of the programs and courses offered by the Mathematical and Computer Sciences Department were to help the students in their later lives.

> The department offered programs for a B.S. in mathematics, a B.A. in mathematics, and a B.A. in mathematics/computer science. Minors in mathematics and computer science were also offered along with other courses for more support in other areas

> Many opportunities were given for students to expand their knowledge about the mathematics and computer science world. A freshman-sophomore mathematics competition and participation in the William Lowell Putnam Mathematical Competition were some of the extracurricular activities offered by the department. The Music department offered a Bachelor of Music in applied music with concentrations in instrument, voice, piano pedagoly or in musical education. Other concentrations could be developed by students within their areas of special interest. The Master of Music with a major in either Performance and Pedology or in Music Education was also offered. Along with an undergraduate major in music, a certificate in Church Music could also be used.

The Music department had three organizations: Sigma Alpha lota, CMENC, and Pi Kappa Lambda. The Meredith Chorale presented its annual concert in December.

In The Swing

The Health, Physical Education and Dance Department has added many new opportunities for growth. The new courses added were: Prevention and Care of Injuries, Movement Fundamentals, and Ice Skatina, which was added in the Spring of 1988. Carol Brooks joined the department as a part-time secretary. Carl Hatchell joined the faculty in October as Basketball coach and became full-time in the spring after Mrs. Helena Allen retired.

Dr. Cindy Bross gave the Distinguished Faculty Lecture, "Walk of Life." She also did a pre-retirement workshop for the N.C. Department of Revenue. Dr. Jay Massey gave the introduction for one of the recipients for the N.C. Tennis Hall of Fame.

Every part of this department grew by adding new faculty and new opportunities.

Mind Over Matter

Psychology was not just another subject this year. One of the largest projects the department was involved in was the CPC. The department co-sponsored with NCSU the Carolina Psychology Conference, April 7 & 8. Dr. James Butcher, developer of the internationally used MMPI, was the featured guest. His lectures and insights added greatly to the conference and to the knowledge of those interested in the psychological field.

Psychology students were also able to participate in a great deal of activities through both the Psychology Club and Psi Chi. Both organizations co-sponsored Psychology Week, designed to promote psychology awareness on our campus. Many activities helped them achieve that goal, including movies, panel discussions and the administration of the Myers-Briggs Personality Test.

The Psychology Club helped sponsor a dance for the handicapped, which was very rewarding in addition to being a challenging project. Psi Chi, the psychology honor society, was also busy throughout the year. They sold Christmas omaments and conducted a campus wide survey to tabulate tastes and preferences.

The psychology department suffered a slight set back this year when their labs were converted in order to supply more living space. They have diligently been working on a proposal for a new building so as to continue their philosophy of learning through research and experimental studies.

The introductory courses in religion and philosophy were designed to acquaint the student with biblical literature and faith as they were related to the contemporary world. The next level courses were divided into certain areas. The new courses offered this year were The Near East, Faith and Social Justice, Women and the Bible, Women and the Christian Tradition, and Jewish Faith and Practice in the Contemporary World.

Two lectures were given during the year. They were the Preston Lecture by Dr. Charles Talbert on "Multiple Levels of Scripture." It was designed to help students blend the personal and academic dimensions of study of the Bible. The Gullick Lecture in Christian Ethics was given by Dr. Les Garner, He spoke about Professional Ethics.

A new program was developed for this summer by Dr. John Saunders. This proaram was designed to send students to Kenva, South Africa.

This type of program, as well as the curriculum offered, helped to establish a motivatina religion department.

A Social Matter

The Sociology Department prepared students to be able to concentrate in the fields of Sociology and/or Social Work. The course curriculum included the required classroom study as well as special lectures and films, which enhanced this field of study. The two clubs within the department, the Sociology Club and the Social Work Club, sponsored a Special Populations Dance held in the Cate Center for Handicapped persons in the fall. Each club held meetings in which special speakers came to talk to the students about each field. This year, the department co-sponsored with the History and Politics Department, a meeting at Meredith of Social Science faculty from Baptist colleges and universities in North Carolina.

photos by James Dove The Student Government Association is a very active and known organization around campus. The purpose is to foster in cooperation with the administration, the general welfare of the student body; to enact and enforce regulations of the association; to uphold the high ideals of the college; to promote interest in campus affairs; and to supervise all student activities for the best of the student body as a whole. SGA works at making sure the campus is run in everyone's best interest as well as promoting events like Alcohol Awareness Week.

Brawley (Honor Council Chair), Libby Avery (Solicitor General), Courtney Spooner, Gina Howard (Pres.), Kristin Myers (Sr. Rep.), and Karen Cecil (Soph. Rep.).

The honor system is a cherished tradition at Meredith. The system is based on the principles of integrity, fulfillment of community obligations, and responsibility to one's fellow citizens. Often the honor code is violated by the actions of a few, therefore it is the duty of the honor council to act on these deviations and to rectify them.

Despite the harsh measures these young women must undertake, they play a crucial role in keeping the system running efficiently.

The members of the honor council are comprised of the chair, two secretaries, two representatives from each class, the solicitor general, the defense counselor, and four faculty members.

Review Board

Students may appeal the action of the Honor Council by presenting a written notice to the Review Board. Just as in the case of our state and federal court system, the Review Board, as an appeals court, considers only the evidence that was presented in the trial; no new evidence can be submitted. The review is confined to determining whether there is clear and convincing evidence in the record to support the verdict reached and whether the hearing was free of substantial error. The result of the review may be to affirm, remand, or reverse the Honor Council's verdict.

The Senate is composed of two representatives from each class and the Non-Residents also. The Senate serves as a legislative branch of SGA. It works as a balance to the Student Life Committee. The Senate also recommends changes in the constitution to the student body and then in the regulations of the association. They also consider legislation, discuss it and then send it to the Student Life Committee who has to approve it.

Other members of the Senate include the handbook editor, the secretary, the chairwoman, one faculty representative, and an advisor.

Row 2: Susan Burns (Non-Resident), Hannah Daniel (Non-Resident), Christy Townsend (Junior Senator), and Jeannine Manning (Junior Senator).

The Elections Board had the job of overseeing all campus elections. There are two elections held each year: the campus wide elections and class officer elections. These are usually held in the spring semester. Members of the board encourage candidacy and provide a candidate's workshop for the girls seeking office. The board also stages the election speeches and the rallies.

STUDENT LIFE

The Committee is a representative body and it serves in an advisory capacity to the Vice President of Student Development on matters of Student Life.

The non-resident students together form an active campus organization. They meet monthly. and they offer a variety of programs. Guest speakers are invited to speak at their meetings. The club sponsors a Christmas party and an annual Non-Resident student luncheon.

The second floor of Cate Center is designed especially to meet the needs of the non-resident student. The fireside lounge provides an atmosphere for students to socialize, relax, or watch a little TV. The Le Greenhouse serves the non-residents as well as faculty and on-campus students. Study rooms are available and used extensively as an alternative to the library.

Cate Center is just the solution for students who do not have a dorm room they can go to between classes. Non-Residents are encouraged to participate in all

The Residence Hall Board consists of elected Residence Hall board chairperson, the elected Dorm Presidents, an appointed Secretary and Treasurer, and Resident Advisors. RHB works closely with the Student Government Association, the Dean of Students office, and the Resident Assistants to provide the best possible living environment for residence life. RHB has started a Resource room which provides materials such as banner paper, paints, stencils, and clip art. The Resident Assistants and Dorm Presidents are able to express their creativity and originality by using these resources on their bulletin boards, banners and posters. Each RHB member heads a campus wide event such as the bloodmobile, roommate game, holiday dinner, and room/suite pictures. Pam Crocker

Resident assistants play an important role at Meredith. They do not simply conduct hall meetings. R.A.'s are carefully selected through an application and interview process. They are expected to uphold and enforce the honor code, assist students, encourage participation, and facilitate good campus communication.

RESIDENT ASSISTANTS

Meredith Christian Association has enoyed a prosperous year in a variety of programs. The introduction of Construction, a veekly meeting that varies in programming rom Bible Study Time to fun and fellowship, vas well received by the Meredith Comnunity.

MCA has also enjoyed several activities with North Carolina State's Baptist Student Jnion. In January, MCA joined with BSU or a winter ski retreat in Boone that was folowed a few weeks later by a spaghetti dinner and fellowship time at Meredith.

One emphasis this year has been to inrease student awareness on social issues. A veek was set aside in March to educate the Meredith Community on apartheid. During his time, books were collected for students n South Africa.

Several Projects and other activities inluded Project Hope, Dorthea Dix, Glenwood Towers, SMILE, Governor Morenead Outreach, a Branching Out newsletter, Worship, and Religious Emphasis Week. Thank you MCA for another great year!

MEA - Just another organization on campus with initials to remember? Wrong! In 1988-1989 MEA was a lot more than just another organization. However, there is not one word to describe exactly what MEA is all about. With the help of the MEA members, here is what MEA means to them . . .

- Laughter with Randy Levin, Stu Moss, and the Electric Zoot Suit at Angel's Comedy Club!!!
- A fun group of people who enjoy planning events like the LUAU and SPRING FLING with bands such as AAE, Northtower, and Carl Rosen!!!
- A night of fun for everyone at the Winter Semi-Formal, "Midnight on the Oasis"
- Total entertainment with Sunday night at the movies featuring Big, Crocodile Dundee, and Young Guns.
- MIXERS with men and Holiday Surprises such as a visit from Freddie during "Nightmare on Hillsborough Street."
- Sunny Picnics in the courtyard with entertainers such as Mike Rayburn.
- A spark of fun that brightens our Meredith College life to the point of Enthusiasm!!! AND LAST BUT NOT LEAST,

MEA means the Meredith Entertainment Association.

NOW THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT!!!

Once again MRA provided the Meredith Community with a year of fun and games. Each season brought some new surprises in iddition to the long-standing traditions. Our organization grew even larger this year as hese new traditions were established.

The year's activities began with Freshman Orientation. The Fitness Committee, led by Shelia Lasley, continued the Meredith Miler, weekly aerobics, and Health Awareness Week. The Explorers Committee, under the direction of Shannon Plough, went on big idventures: white water rafting, roller skatng, and a day of hiking in the Blue Ridge Mountains. Amy Adams and Kelly White had challenging year heading up the Intramurals Committee with every sport from football to powling. In addition to regular events, the aculty challenged the girl's basketball team n February.

"Rising Above the Ordinary," Cheryl Mason and Susan Ezell led us into another exciting tradition: Cornhuskin! Spirits were nigh and so was the noise level, but when everything calmed down, the seniors walked away with first place.

MRA brought two new traditions to Meredith; a co-ed softball tournament and a campus wide Easter Egg Hunt. The softball tournament gave each campus organization a chance to compete against one another. And spring brought another class competition: The Easter Egg Hunt. Classes competed in gathering eggs and making a class Easter Basket. Cheryl Mason and Kitty Pate "Double Dared" the Meredith campus in the new and improved Stunt '89.

Robin Wright added the MRA newsletter Moving Right Along to our agenda which proved to be beneficial in getting campus support for the events. The teamwork and dedication of the organization made '88-'89 successful.

The Few The Proud. The Yearbook Staff. Putting together a yearbook was no easy task! At times the road appeared endless as we struggled to meet the deadlines and still maintain our sanity. The late nights spent in the office drawing layouts, writing copy, cropping pictures, and typing information seemed to pay off as we shoved the pages in the mailbox. Our staff of 17 members worked very diligently to produce the 1989 Oak Leaves. Their work began in the fall semester when they each signed up to become a member of the staff. From this point on, there was no turning back. The whole fall was spent on ordering pictures, gathering information, and preparing for our big semester — the Spring. Since the book is published in the fall, much of the work is done during the spring semester. Here is where all our fun began!

deadlines that were all too soon. There was one particularly exciting spot during these months - our trip to Caswell Beach with Joe Allegood, our Hunter representative. We escaped to Caswell with Joe because it allowed niques to use on the book.

As our semester progressed, so did the yearbook! It was definitely the biggest challenge of my life working with a few dedicated others to put a whole year into print. We hope that as you turn the pages of the 1989 Oak Leaves that you will constantly be reminded that Meredith is One Singular Sensation.

EREDITE

The Meredith Herald, the weekly campus newspaper, informs the Meredith community of upcoming events, new courses and faculty, and other news and feature happenings. The Herald serves as the voice of the students through editorials, letters, and the "Meredith Asks . . . " column.

This year's staff continues to produce a quality newspaper with the support of the Meredith Community as well as the advisor, Ms. Joan Mills, and the Publications Board, With a staff of more than twenty-five, the Herald hits the news stands on Tuesday afternoons only to disappear by Wednesday afternoons.

The Meredith Herald welcomes contributions from the students, faculty, and administration as the history of Meredith College is recorded on the pages of the campus Newspaper. The Acorn is an annual publication accepting poetry, prose, and art work from Meredith students, faculty, and staff. Students compete for the Elizabeth Avery Colton award and the Acorn Art award. These awards are given to recognize the best literary piece and best art piece in the magazine. First semester work on the Acorn is mainly publicity. The actual judging of submissions for the magazine and awards is not done until second semester by Acorn staff, Meredith staff, and the Longview Writers, a writers' club outside the Meredith community. The Acorn is an excellent opportunity for Meredith talent to shine.

The Philaretian Society is a serrice club that is involved with the Cerebral Palsy Center as well as he Raleigh community. The Phis Iso provide entertainment for Meredith students through a uitar and five singers known as the Bathtub Ring. The blue and white colors and the Phis mascot. Milton the teddy bear, are symbols of the Phi society. During Rush Week, Meredith students are invited to learn more about the Phis and join our sisterhood.

A good representation of the Phi society is our motto "For this is the journey that men made: to find themselves."

The Astrotekon Service Club provides many opportunities for nembers to become involved not only with the Meredith comnunity, but also with the Raleigh ommunity. The Astro Service Club is active as a sponsor of Muliple Sclerosis. The club has esablished SAMS (Students Against Multiple Sclerosis) Chapter. Every other semester the members organize and conduct the Used Book Sale on campus. Each year during Cornhuskin' the club sponsors the Spirit Competition in which the money raised is donated to the Multiple Sclerosis Society. There is a party held during rush week for all students to learn about the activities of the club and to become members. The Astro's colors are gold and white, and the mascot is Billy Astro, a goat. "She builds beneath the stars" is the motto of the Astros.

MEREDITH INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION

MIA is an organization made up of international students and American students who have an interest in international issues and culture. Basically, anyone who has an interest in the Meredith International Association is welcome to join. Most of the students come from every part of the world. There are students from South America, Central America, Africa, Asia, and Europe, Some of the activities MIA participates in are the Chapel service conducted during United Nations week in October, and the Spring international luncheon for the Meredith faculty and staff held during Foreign Language

ASSOCIATION BLACK AWARENESS

Being aware of your culture and purpose is something one can treasure for life. This is an achievement that the Association for Black Awareness strives to be successful in. ABA's prime goal is to provide Black cultural programs that help create a better understanding of the black heritage within the Meredith Community. One of their main accomplishments during the year is BEW, Black Emphasis Week, during the month of February. The theme for BEW this year was the "Living Dream". This is a memorable event that ABA and Meredith College cherish.

WINGS

Wings is a support group for returning students over the age of 23. The enrollment of nontraditional age students has continued to increase at Meredith, and now comprises one-fifth of the total student population.

Returning students generally have to juggle family responsibilities and existing careers in addition to their academic endeavors. Wings is a group of women who are familiar with the unique situations of added stress, and aim to help minimize the feelings of chaos for their sisters through mutual support and encouragement.

The motto, "The future is safe only in the hands of those to whom the past is dear," symbolizes the purpose of the Granddaughter's Club. This organization is composed of students whose mothers, grandmothers, and/ or great-grandmothers are alumnae of Meredith. It was established to provide opportunities for fellowship and participation in alumnae programs and activities among those students who have a Meredith heritage. One way the goal is accomplished is by holding meetings in the Alumnae House where the members can learn more about the Meredith heritage and traditions.

COLLEGE REPUBLICA

Because 1988 was an election year, Meredith College Republicans had the opportunity to participate in campaigns on the local, state, and federal levels. Club members volunteered their time to the Fetzer, Gardner, Martin, and Bush campaigns. Meredith was fortunate enough to have Congressional candidate Tom Fetzer as a speaker for a monthly meeting. Some of our involvements included the Oliver North rally, Jim Martin rally, George Bush rally, Dan Quaile rally, and President Ronald Reagan rally. Other events attended were the Republican National Convention, College Republican Fall and Spring Conventions, the College Republican National Convention, and the Presidential Inauguration.

The purpose of the Student Foundation is to enhance the college relations and to participate in development projects in conjunction with the Division of Institutional Advancement. The Foundation is divided into four committees.

Alumnae Affairs works with alumnae in various ways and settings. Committee members attend chapter meetings and events across the state. They also assist in the coordination of Alumnae Day.

Annual Giving assists in fund-raising for the college. The primary focus is the annual Phonathon.

Corporate Relations is the public relations arm of the Foundation which assist in hostessing corporate luncheons and going on visits to corporations who give money to the college. Members also share Meredith information with members of the business community.

Parent Programs plans and executes the annual Parents' Weekend. They also work closely with the Parents' Association and the parent's board projects.

Rising sophomores, juniors, and seniors are eligible to join in the spring semester.

COLLEGE MARSHALLS

The college marshalls represent Meredith at such functions as graduation commencement, Baccalaureate, Founder's Day, Awards Day, Meredith Performs, and special lectures. Two marshalls are elected from each class and the chief marshall is elected from the senior class. The chief senior marshall is responsible for coordinating the marshall's activities.

COLLEGE DEMOCRA

In 1988 the College Democrats were reorganized. Dr. Clyde Frazier was the new advisor. The club was very active in the fall semester, but there was not that much going on during the spring semester. Throughout the fall the College Democrats participated in voter registration on the campus, party fund backing, as well as many students actually working in the political campaigns. The club also sponsored many guest campaign speakers on the campus. There were fifteen club members. The College Democrats were unable to be photographed.

SILVER SHIELD

Silver Shield Honorary Leadership Society has as its purpose to recognize each year from the Junior and Senior classes women who promote by example and precept a wellrounded student life, an understanding between Faculty and students, a high standard of honor and cooperation in the student body, the ideals and traditions of Meredith, and commitment to the honor system on the campus (as stated in the constitution).

In the fall of each year, three Junior Associate members are inducted, as well as several Senior members. The total members inducted may not exceed 5% of the Senior class enrollment. A 2.5 GPA is necessary to be eligible for membership. A student does not have to hold a student elected office in order to become a member.

KAPPA NU SIGMA

Established in 1923, Kappa Nu Sigma Scholastic Honor Society takes its name from three Greek words, Kallos, Novs, and Sophia, meaning beauty, soundmindedness, and intelligence. The purpose in the society is to promote and recognize scholarship at Meredith. Each year KNS awards the Helen Price scholarship to the sophomore and junior students with the highest grade point averages. Four sophomore recipients (Rhonyn Curtis, Alysson Honeycutt, Kay Jernigan, and Kelly Morris) and junior Amanda Brooks, were the 1988-89 recipients honored at Kappa Nu Sigma's Fall induction of new members.

Membership in KNΣ is determined by quality points ratio. Senior members are inducted at the fall meeting; both juniors and seniors at the spring banquet and induction: and other graduating seniors at the annual meeting during commencement.

THE PRESIDENT

f W ith the upcoming Centennial of Meredith College in 1991, Dr. John Weems will be celebrating his twentieth year as president of Meredith. As the chief educational and administrative officer, Dr. Weems with the help of his five vice-presidents, is responsible for the supervision, management, and governance of Meredith. He also interprets and carries out the policies of the Board of Trustees.

During the last eighteen years, Dr. Weems' goal has been to make Meredith the best women's college it can be. In this venture, Dr. Weems has focused on having the best faculty, students, library, and campus facilities.

Under Dr. Weems' guidance, and with the support of his vice-presidents and the Board of Trustees, Meredith continues to grow as one of the leading women's colleges in the country.

Executive Secretary Sharon Woodlief

THE VICE-PRESIDENT and DEAN of the COLLEGE

r. Allen Burris makes sure that Meredith functions efficiently. He monitors the curricula, employs the faculty, and supervises classroom instruction. The Vice-President and Dean has a supportive staff which maintains a sufficient faculty and a varied curricula that meet the needs of students adequately.

Dr. Burris also teaches Political Science in the History and Politics Department and is active in events outside of Meredith. Dr. Burris is a member of The Raleigh Civitan Club and is active in the First Baptist Church. Raquetball and tennis play an important role in his free time as well.

Along with President Weems and the other members of the administration, Dean Burris assists in developing and shaping Meredith into a women's college rich in educational opportunities.

THE VP for ADMINISTRATIVE AFFAIRS and EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT to the PRESIDENT

Pr. LaRose Spooner is the Vice-President for Administrative Affairs and Executive Assistant to the President. As Dr. Weems' "right-hand woman," Dr. Spooner represents the President at special meetings, conferences and functions, and handles special projects.

Another responsibility of Dr. Spooner's is the coordination of the Offices of Publications, Public Relations, and Facilities Scheduling. Dr. Spooner also prepares Strategic Planning

Documents and other special reports and studies. Some of the Strategic Planning Documents have included studies of the library, financial aid, student charges, and Career Services.

In addition, Dr. Spooner maintains communications with the Board of Trustees and prepares reports, studies, research and presentations designed to help in their decision-making responsibilities.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT for BUSINESS and FINANCE

The Office of Business and Finance is the service and support arm of Meredith. Mr. Charles Taylor serves as the Vice-President and leads the office in helping to provide an environment within which the educational process can operate effectively and efficiently.

There are four basic subdivisions of the Office of Business and Finance. They include Financial Services, Information Services, Environmental Services and Auxiliary Services.

Some of the accomplishments that have been made in these subdivisions are the addition of more satellite copiers for students, the installation of telephones in the classroom buildings, the renovation of Cate Center and the resurfacing of campus roadways.

r. Sandra Thomas, the Vice-President for Student Development, and her staff strive to enhance the lives of students by complementing classroom education.

The Student Development Office provides many enriching opportunities for students throughout their college career. As Freshmen, students are welcomed with orientation activities to make them feel more comfortable away from home.

In the next few years, there

CLASS OF 1992

WHAT AWESOME FUN! In one year, we have lived and remembered. Our freshmen year at Meredith College brought many "firsts:" our first time living in a 11'x16' room with someone, our first cab ride to State, our first dash for curfew, our first allnighter, our first taste of ARA, our first wait to wash clothes, our first hall meeting, our first Freshmen Experience, our first Cam-Tel bill -Wow! our first mixer, our first Cornhuskin'. (What Spirit), our first night of SDH, our first midnight pizza run, and ships grew, our experi- class is awesome! We in one year! Our friend- All I have to say is "our our first role in the ence grew, and our have just begun to live Meredith family. What knowledge grew. There and remember." memories we have made is so much yet to come.

ORIENTATION

Freshmen being inducted at the Honor Code Ceremony.

... "All Freshmen expected to arrive on campus Thursday, August 18, between the hours of 9:00am and 1:00pm" were the beginning instructions for incoming 1988 freshmen. Becoming orientated with Meredith involved an intensive 6-day schedule which began with activities such as a family introductory afternoon and a picnic in the courtyard. As the activities ontinued, there were workshops, meetings with advisors, plus nformation sessions, a formal dinner, and finally freshmen regstration. After the six days, orientation was brought to a close by the Honor Code Ceremony and the start of classes the next norning.

Late night at Lambda Chi, Hump

Night at Pika, a band party at Sigma Chi, and a cheeseburger in paradise with Jimmy Buffet at Phi Tau. The weekend has come and we fall to our knees in thanks!

Through lil' sisters MC girls could get the scoop on about any of the 400 guys associated with the fifteen fraternities. Whether it was a hard core partier at Kappa Alpha or a mellow fellow from Sig Ep, guys were everywhere. Of course the popular place for MC girls was Lambda Chi where the late nights lasted until the wee hours. From the lawn party in the fall to the Suntan Jam in the spring, fraternity guys kept the Angels' social calendars full. Sophomores had the connections to the fun through the lil' sisters but the key to success was just knowing how it was done.

FRIENDS

Time has passed by so quickly, it seems like yesterday that we were graduating from high school. It is important to make the most of what you have and the time you are given. When life gets you down realize everything has a reason for happening. Strive to be the best today, don't wait until tomorrow because soon it will be yesterday. Live without judgment - preserve your child-like open mindedness.

Watch a class rise to success, live for the moment. and stand tall ... let us, the sophomores, show you how it's done ...

JUNIORS

Making memories is what the Junior class seemed to do best—and what a job! Remember rolling a friends door for that special birthday or just for the heck of it? Then for your birthday pretending to be surprised when they did it to your door, while suspecting it all the time. Brenda Sake (picture above) took a night off from studying, to help her little sis in the water fights. Some remember the awful cold we had the next day from being drenched head to toe. Juniors made memories off campus too. Some of us went on cruises for break and met that special someone as M rry Beth Ogle (picture above) did. Some of us went to New York City, where we visited places like Macy's, the Statue of Liberty and the Hard Rock Cafe. But for many of us, one of the most common memories was goofing off to avoid studying, as Barbara Morris (picture above) did. Because we all know, nothing makes a person more productive than the last minute. So we all had fun—while time crept upon us. Only one more year to go Juniors! Our future goals were so bright they burned our eyes with anticipation for that final year!

TRADITIONS

The Junior Class has unified and brought together through traditional class events to make us feel more a part of Meredith College. Meeting our little sisters for the first time was an exciting event that we looked forward to. The picture on the left shows Jeannine Manning with her two little sisters at the Cornhuskin' bonfire.

Another tradition that Juniors looked forward to was the ordering of class rings and finally receiving them! You would have thought it was the biggest decision in our life to decide upon yellow or white gc'd; 10, 14, or 18 carat; and what finger to wear it on. At left, Caroline Teater and Kim McNeill sized their fingers as they selected the appropriate finger to proudly display their new Meredith ring.

Finally ... It

When we first met, we were like scattered pieces of a jigsaw puzzle.

Each of us having our own unique shape and personality.

Through the years, our similarities brought us together, while our differences strengthened the bond.

Now that we are finally one, we must disperse. However, the individuals we are now are not the same ones we were in the beginning. For, we leave taking a little piece of one another. Though we will soon become a part of new unities, we will never lose our place in the unit we have spent the past four or more years building.

A Creed To Live By

Don't undermine your worth by comparing yourself with others. It is because we are different that each of us is special. Don't set your goals by what other people deem important. Only you know what is best for you. Don't take for granted the things closest to your heart. Cling to them as you would your life, for without them life is meaningless. Don't let your life slip through your fingers by living in the past or for the future. By living your life one day at a time, you live all the days of your life. Don't give up when you still have something to give. Nothing is really over until the moment you stop trying. Don't be afraid to admit that you are less than perfect. It is this fragile thread that binds us to each other. Don't be afraid to encounter risks. It is by taking chances that we learn how to be brave. Don't shut love out of your life by saying it's impossible to find. The quickest way to receive love is to give love; the fastest way to lose love is to hold it too tightlu: and the best way to keep love is to give it wings. Don't dismiss your dreams. To be without dreams is to be without hope; to be without hope is to be without purpose. Don't run through life so fast that you forget not only where you've been but also where you're going. Life is not a race, but a journey to be savored each step of the way.

Every year, Who's Who members from American universities and colleges are nominated from the senior class by the faculty. These nominations are based on the student's scholastic achievement, their participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, their citizenship and service to the college, and their future achievement potential. Students must have at least a 2.5 grade point average to be eligible. The final nominees are approved by the Student Life Committee at Meredith. The final list of names is printed in book form by Who's Who.

Outstanding Seniors are nominated and chosen by members of the senior class. All seniors are eligible except those selected for Who's Who. The nominations are based on those seniors who are considered as outstanding by their peers.

After the girls have been nominated, the class votes and then selects the ten with the most votes as outstanding. These ladies are awarded a certificate in recognition of their achievement on Award's Day.

A Second Glance

or most of the students at Meredith, this year seemed to pass quickly. Before we knew it, we were studying for exams and making summer plans. Soon the pictures were taken off the walls and the clothes were packed away. Another year had come to a close.

The last month of school was spent in a hustle and bustle to wrap up all the loose ends. Students could be seen studying for exams, relaxing under the sun, exercising, and packing away the year's memories. As Spring rolled around, the fever started to hit everyone. Freshmen were relieved to be finished with their first year of college. Sophomores were looking forward to a change of pace. Juniors were excited about the upcoming year — their final one. And Seniors anxiously awaited their big moment — Graduation.

With the ending of the school year also came the time to say good-bye. During the time spent at Meredith, many friendships were made. The memories of the moments shared seem to live on in the hearts of close friends making the good-byes a little easier.

Like each year before it, this academic year was unique in tiself. Many events and people made it a special year. The Oak Leaves tried to capture each of these moments so that in years to come we will remember what made Meredith One Singular Sensation! Jennifer Blackwell

Colophon

Volume 86 of the Oak Leaves was printed in Winston-Salem. NC by Hunter Publishing Company, a division of Josten's. Embossed paper stock was used for this edition's 224 pages. A press run of 1250 copies was made, a large increase in number to meet the demands of the students. The trim size is 9 inches by 12 inches. The cover, designed by Lisa Seale, Jennifer Horton, and Jennifer Blackwell, is Lexotone base with applied PMS 872 Gold. The color is Hunter Green #41039 with Mission Grain. The dominant typestyle is Baskerville. Other types used are: Palatino, Garamond, Helvetica Condensed, Antique Olive, Optima, Avant Book, Quadrata, Americana, American Typewriter, and Venture Script. Hunter Black ink was used on all pages.

Individual portraits and group photographs were taken by Max Ward-Delmar Studios. Hunt Ward was the photography company representative. Most candid photographs were taken by the Oak Leaves staff. Max Ward-Delmar Studios, College Relations, Time and Newsweek also provided candid photos. All art-work was submitted camera ready.

The Oak Leeves was available to all full-time students free of charge. Part-time students are charged $7.50 upon delivery of the book. Yearbook orders were taken from faculty and staff in the Spring at a cost of $20.00 per book. Delivery of the book is set for September. Seniors receive their copies directly from Hunter Publishing Company.

Inquires concerning this edition should be addressed to:

Parting Thoughts

As I sit here with pen in hand, I am at a loss for words. What can you say after attempting to say it all! The publishing of the 1989 Oak Leaves was by far the biggest challenge of my life. My job as Publishing Editor of the Oak Leaves began in the Summer of '88. Carol Sessoms and Joan Wyatt atended the Hunter Publishing Workshop at Hilton Head in July and began the task of gathering creative ideas. Then August came, school began, and the yearbook started its journey to production. In September, we had a meeting to organize our staff. It was so exciting to really begin work. The fall months breezed by and much to our regret, we had to say good-bye to our advisor Joan Wyatt who left Meredith in December.

After Christmas break, we—the staff—returned to Mercdith and faced the most difficult part of the work—meeting leadlines. At our staff retreat in January, Carol and I made final decisions on the cover, paper quality, and the number of pages. January was also busy for another reason. Max Ward-Delmar, our newly signed photography company, came and shot all organization and group pictures. Wasn't this fun, Missy and Gwen? A special thanks to Hunt Ward and James Dove who guided us through it. As the Spring months passed (quicker than the Fall months), we struggled with the mounds of lay-outs and copy sheets. If only we could see the end!

The end did come — in the middle of June. I took about 40% of the 1989 Oak Leaves with me to Camp Cheerio to finish. While Carol took care of business matters in Raleigh. I continued to draw and type in the mountains of North Carolina. And soon I began to see a glimmer of that light at the end of the tunne!

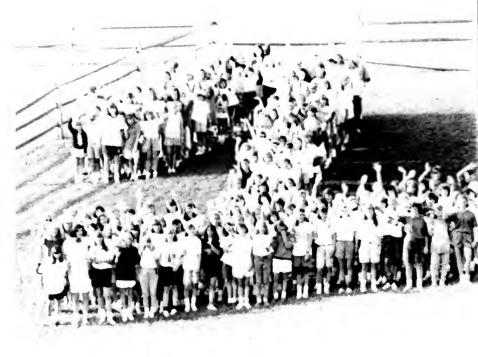

This book would not be complete without giving credit to those individuals who have helped it to emerge. To the entire staff, thank you for volunteering of your time and efforts. To Teresa Sawyers, Shelly Robuck, and Bridget Ramke, thanks for being faithful and on-time. You girls made my job so much easier. Also, Teresa thanks for reminding me of how important laughter is even in the midst of crises. Another special individual was Renee Larrieu, who was the strong arm behind the scenes. Your help with all the paperwork rescued me from hours of work that I never could have fit in! Thanks, Renee. I also owe a note of thanks to Jennifer Corn. You did a wonderful, creative job on the Senior section. I think they will love it. To Carol, what can I say that you do not already know? We have been through it all. Thanks, buddy. To Carolyn Hill and Cindy Edwards, thanks for all the advice. A special note of thanks to my friends at Camp Cheerio, Andy Frye and Laura Smith, who drew layouts and developed pictures. What true friends you are.

A heartful of thanks goes to my closest friends — Leslie, Iris, Shan, and Allison. Thanks so much girls for working on the book and for taking care of me. Your continuous love and support will always be imprinted on my heart. To my roommate, Meg. thanks will never be enough. It took artot of patience and caring to live with the endless phone calls, the late nights of work, and even the tears. Last be slever least, thank you Mom and Dad. Just like all my life, you two pulled me through the hard times and walked beside — ugh the good times. Thanks for all the advice, love.

The '89 Oak Leaves was a huge challenge even overwhelming at times, but not an impossible rask. In reflection, the most important lesson I learned was that "With God all things are possible" (Matt. 19:26).
